Enamel strikers settle for bonus

Schools to test sub-soil

Sub-soil and site studies for the county school board's building program, approved by the electorate early this month, were authorized by trustees Saturday at the request of Architect Fred Wagner. He estimated the cost would run from $775 to $850 on the three sites—Pearlington, Gulfview and Hancock North Central.

Transportation and vocational agriculture bills occupied a major part of the meeting and trustees approved bills in those fields after hearing from Arthur Necaise, transportation supervisor, and D.J. Martin, vocational instructor at North Central.

A number of matters were held for action pending recommendations from Chester Blacklock who is to become superintendent of the North Central plant on July 1. He outlined to the board his proposals for securing bids on all items which might be needed during the coming session, emphasizing such action would not require their purchase immediately. Trustees indicated concurrence with this procedure.

Production resumed this week at the Industrial Enameling division of Industrial Electric, Inc., after the striking Sheet Metal Workers Local 11, AFL-CIO, and management agreed on a new work contract Friday.

The work stoppage occurred April 30 when the union rejected Industrial's offer of a 12 1/2 cent raise in the first year and 7 1/2 cents in the second on a two-year contract. The company Friday proposed an incentive bonus plan which was accepted.

Some employees returned Saturday and the plant was in full operation again Monday.

The incentive bonus formula also has been extended to the (Cont. on Page 5-A.)

MTF at 4,000, 2nd year ends

Mississippi Test Facility ended its second year of construction this week as the population passed the 4,000 mark.

Since mid-May 1963, major construction has been underway here on facilities to static test stages of the Saturn rocket. Operations are expected to begin the first of 1966.

For the first time since the $250 million was started the work population at the site has passed 4,000. As of May 15, employees numbered 4,161. Of this number 2,636 were employed by construction and installation contractors. The Corps of Engineers had 175 employees stationed at the site. Activation and operations personnel make up the other 1,349 employees at the facility. NASA 59, General Electric 823, GE sub-contractors 273, Weather Bureau eight; Boeing Co. 20, North American Aviation 166.

Chamber problems

Eye MTF liason

Main topic at Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's board meeting Monday was extent of cooperation the local body could feasibly undertake with Mississippi Test Facility employers, particularly General Electric and North American Aviation.

As part of the fast buildup of personnel undertaken at MTF a few weeks ago, the major contractors have been asking the chamber for guided tours and statistical information beyond the personnel resources of the civic group. Director Lee Hayden, seconded by Director Wilson Webb, moved the policy problem by moving that the chamber set one day aside each week for group tours requested by GE and North American. In addition, Chamber Secretary Mrs. Frank Kiefer was told to show the area to any individual coming to the chamber office and asking this service.

Previously director Powell Glass, Jr., had moved the chamber hire a vacationing student for the express purpose of conducting tours of the area for prospective residents. Slidell's (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Circuit jury verdict goes for defendant

A jury found for the defendant in a $25,000 damage suit brought by George Carl Johnson against Mrs. Ruth A. Carlson as the May term of Circuit Court got under way Monday with some 100 civil cases on the docket. Johnson filed suit for damages as a result of a rear end collision at 25th Avenue and U.S. 90 in Gulfport several months ago.

In criminal cases held over from the January and earlier terms, C.J. Guitreau, Jr., pleaded guilty to uttering forgery and was sentenced by Judge Leslie B. Grant to two years in the penitentiary, suspended. He was placed on probation for two years and ordered to make restitution to a Hattiesburg construction Com- (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Port master plan due within month

Port and Harbor Commissioners heard Jack V. Williams, assistant divisional engineer, with Michael Baker, Inc., of Jackson, announce Thursday the master plan, prepared to govern all development of the Hancock County port, would be ready for presentation before commissioners next month.

Based on the feasibility study, the plan, whose initial project construction has been estimated at $80,000, will be in definite stages. It will cover acquisition of lands and road and rail right-of-ways, Mulatto Bayou channel improvement, harbor dredging and construction of earthen dikes, clearing rail spur right-of-way and installation of drainage structures.

Stage 2 covers construction and paving of the access road and construction of the rail spur; stage 3 deals with construction of dock facilities; and stage 4 centers around acquisition of an additional 500 acres for the industrial area and the completion of bayou dredging plans.

Start work on U.S. 90 four-laning

Plans of way clearing and grading for a 3 1/2 mile four-laning project on U.S. 90, from the intersection with Rt. 43 and concluding west of the truck scales, has commenced, according to C.D. Caraway, project engineer with state highway commission.

Second contract in the four-laning project, rumored to be let for bids soon, will cover the strip from present four-lane limits by the Bay St. Louis highway bridge to the new construction.

Low bidders on the first contract were Yates and Patterson, Inc., of Jackson, with a bid of $365,054 covering grading, drainage, culverts and a bridge. Completion of initial construction, according to contract, is within 200 working days.

The third project will be to extend new four-lane limits from the U.S. 90 and 43 intersection to the intersection with (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Waveland views sales tax boost

Sewerage plans occupied only an insignificant part of Waveland's town council meeting Tuesday night. Council had held a public mass meeting about the $1,600,000.12 project last Friday.

Based on casual remarks by Mayor Garfield Ladaer and Aldermen Dominick Sozier, Albert Grass and John Longo, the town officials seem to concur with the recommendation of their engineer, D.M. Dornblatt and Associates, New Orleans, and financing the installation. Dornblatt's firm recommended a $4.25 per month charge for each sewerage connection plus a five mill real property levy to fund an anticipated general obligation bond issue of about $1,400,000.

Pushed primarily by Longo, indications were the town might seek at the next election authority to increase the sales tax levy from one-half per cent to one per cent. This was authorized in Bay St. Louis in its revenue bond election last spring, and is the amount paid in a vast majority of Mississippi municipalities. Longo, with nods of assent for other aldermen, pointed out that few Wavelanders bought in Waveland rather than in Bay St. Louis because of the tax difference. At present plans for this tax increase are not related to the sewerage problem.

Longo also suggested council consider mending its subdivision regulations to add sewerage as an item subdivisions must provide along with water and gas mains. No action and little discussion was taken on this point.

Southern Specialty Sales Co., New Orleans, was lone bidder on a grass cutter for the town. Action on this matter was deferred until later, council recessing from day to day.

Sam Yarbrough, Louisville and Nashville Railroad agent here, said the major delay came Wednesday morning when four (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

which will take place in Jackson May 29 to June 5.

Announcement of their selection was made this week by Clement R. Bourgeois, Post 139 of the American Legion, which sponsors the delegates.

The delegates are chosen from among high school juniors. Blatze, son of Mrs. Vera H. Blatze and Osmond Blatze, will represent St. Stanislaus College.

Mestayer will represent Bay High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Mestayer, Jr. of Waveland.

Moore, son of Rev. John E. Moore of Lumberton, is from Hancock North Central School.

Fred Fayard is chairman of the Legion's American Legion committee which is responsible for this project.

Edna Moran, graduating from Hancock North Central School with the highest average, and Brenda Lee, finishing with the second highest average, received scholarships to Pearl River Junior College at commencement exercises Monday night. Graduating with honors were Norman Ferguson and Edna Necaise.

Gwendolyn Farve and Charles Woods received the American Legion medals for citizenship which were presented by Russell Elliott and Lucien Kidd.

The Fulton award for cooperation with the faculty and student body went to Oticia Ladner.

Models were awarded as follows:

Brenda Lee, band; Norman Ferguson, English and commercial; Lanny Baker, science; Sandra Bennett, history; Eddie Peterson, mathematics and boys' basketball; Shirley Shaw, home economics; Larry Favre, agriculture; John Necaise, citizenship; Ann Moran, girls' basketball; and Charles Woods, football.

Brenda Lee, Edna Moran and Leroy Robert Perronne won band scholarships to Pearl River Junior College while Eddie Peterson received an athletic scholarship to the same institution.

The theme, Accepting the Challenge of the Space Age, was presented by John Necaise. Speakers and their topics were Edna Moran on Accepting the

Game dates, bag limits set

Southern Mississippi's deer hunting season, with a bag limit of one per person, has been split between two dates, according to Fish and Game Commission authorities.

Opening on Nov. 20 through Dec. 1, the season will resume Dec. 27 and continue until Jan. 11.

Turkey can be hunted from April 15 - 17, with a bag limit of two per season, while squirrels may be hunted from Oct. 15 through Jan. 11 with a bag limit of eight per day and 16 in possession.

Quail limits and dates remain unchanged. The season opens Dec. 1 and closes Feb. 15 with the bag limit of eight per day and 16 in possession.

No open season has been given for bear but an increase has been made in the bag limit to rabbits from five to eight. Rabbits may be hunted from Oct. 15 thru Feb. 18.

No change was made in last year's regulations on concerning raccoons, opossum and trapping seasons.

Raccoons and opossums may be run with dogs by licensed hunters through the year in all counties. These animals may be taken for food without a gun in all counties from Oct. 1 - May, 19, and may be taken with dogs and guns in all counties from Nov. 20 - Jan. 31.

Fur-bearing animals may be trapped by licensed trappers from Dec. 1 thru Jan. 31 except that the season for trapping muskrats shall be Dec. 1 - March 1.

Conservative View By James J. Kilpatrick

It is not the easiest thing on earth to take, say, 15,000 youngsters between the ages of 16 and 22, and shake some sense into their addled heads. Otherwise, we have been attempting it since the days of Plutarch, Marcus Tullius Cicero, and no one has found the trick yet.

But the temptation is usually strong to give the young one more try in the case of these overblown adolescents who solemnly proclaim their involvement in "the movement." Out on the Pacific Coast, one phase of the movement seeks freedom for filthy speech. In the upper Midwest, the movement is hot for an end to racial discrimination. In the East, it's Viet Nam, and let us not be beastly to the Reds. Youths who once were more wholesomely engaged in the pursuit of young ladies' pines are parading around with pacifist placards. They are suffering—heavens, how they are suffering!—and their hearts are bleeding. They emit, And what a wonderful pleasure it would be, to push 15,000 custard pies in their 15,000 bearded faces.

Four of these anguished infants turned up in Life Magazine a week or so ago. The first of them announced that "what we are trying to do is to make our identity realizable." That is the sort of muck that passes for clear speech within the movement. It will be seen that all the parts of speech are there—subject, predicate, object—but the parts convey no whole. No wonder the boy's parents think he's going through a phase. Sure enough, he is.

This same philosopher was worried about men who work on assembly lines. They have no vocation, he called them pursue to fulfill themselves. With increasing automation, they will have more leisure time, but what would they do with it? "They'll bowl a lot, play golf a lot and watch television a lot. And I think that's very scary." Instead of thus amusing themselves, they ought to be involved in "community kinds of productions."

There is at once a terrible pathos and a terrible arrogance in this aspect of "the movement." This youngster honestly cannot conceive of the palpable truth that our society includes countless human beings who are happy at their routine jobs—human beings who find simple pleasure in bowling, golfing, or watching TV. They would be miserable in "community kinds of productions." But "the movement" would not let them along; the movement would reorder their lives.

Another of these giddy rebels wants to think; he wants to deal with life and reality; and he thinks he knows the realities of life in the business world: "Companies hire people who will be docile and do as they are told. They don't want someone who challenges the system." Apparently, the dead believes this bludge. He is dead serious. They are all of them dead serious. "It may be true that life is full of compromise," he says, "but it is for others to compromise, not me." When Walter Mitty said that, the guns went pocket-pockets.

This same flaming youth wants "a world where people are free to make the decisions that affect their own lives, a participatory democracy, a non-exploited system in which no one's making money off another man's work." He also wants a university system in which the students are free and the professors are free, and the administrators content themselves with merely raising money, though presumably not from other men's work.

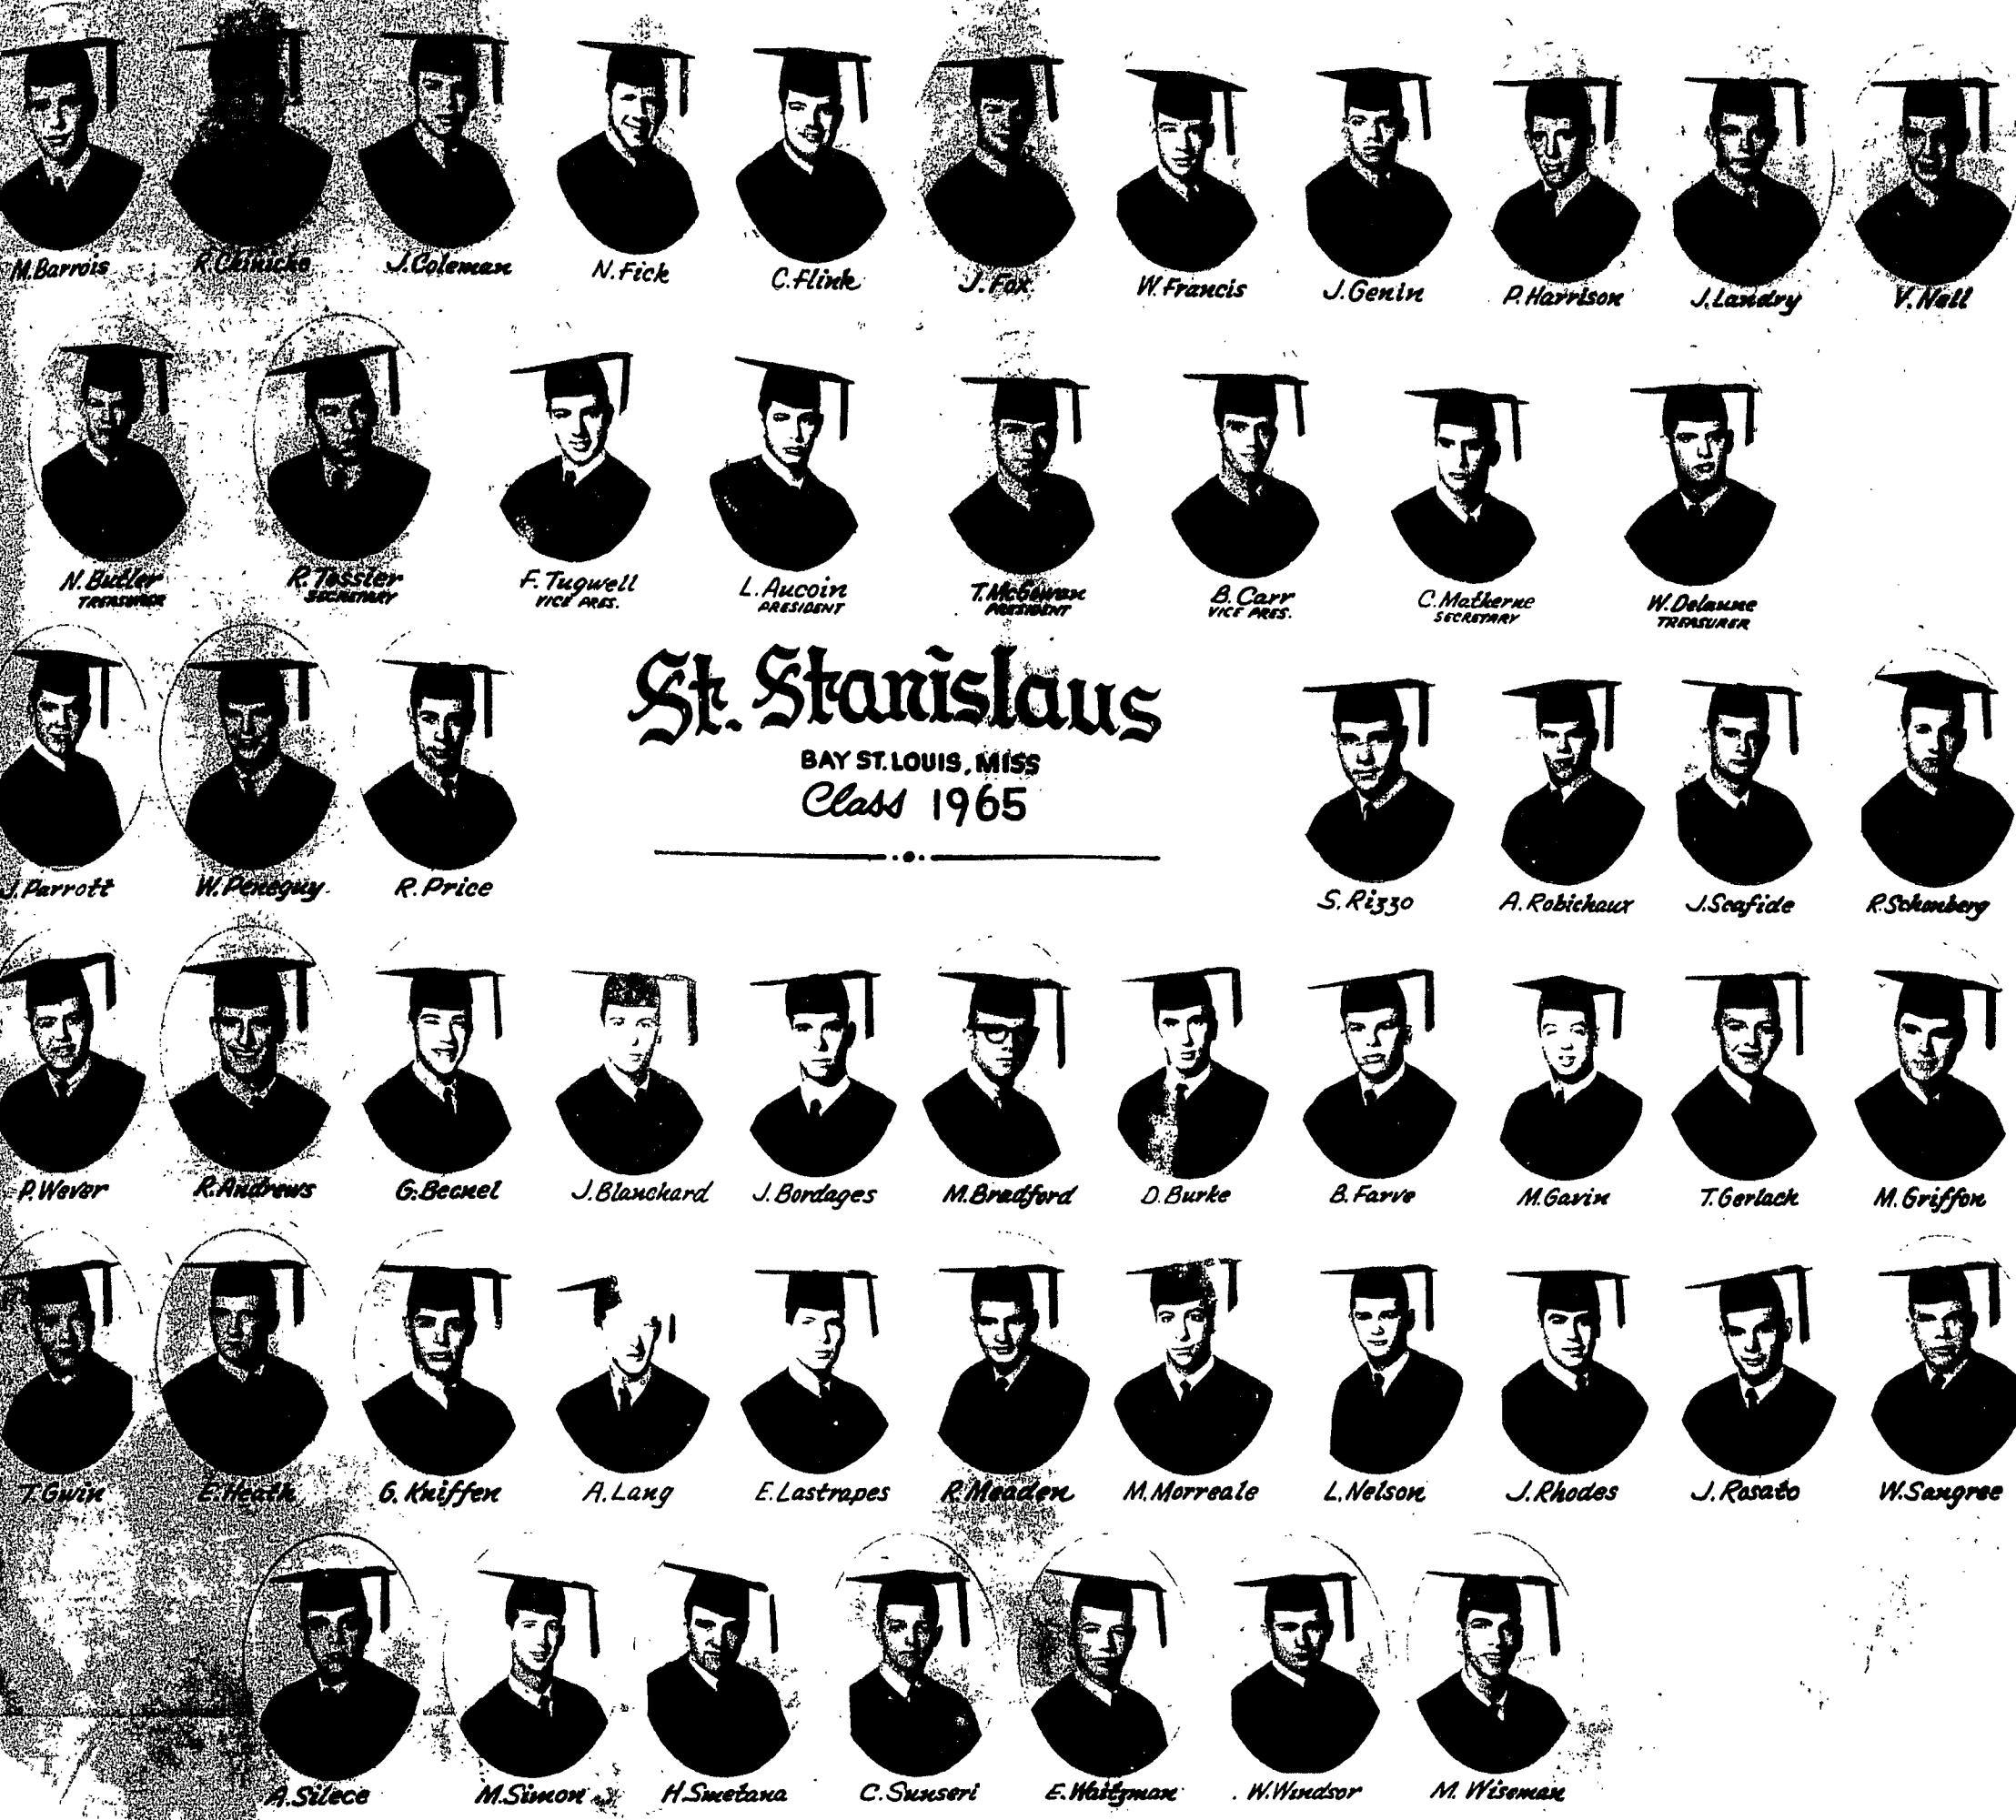

Well, if it were possible to penetrate the foggy depths of some of this ersatz thinking, one might try to hammer some solid truths into these boyish skulls. One might begin by suggesting that they are privileged to live in the freest country in the world. Thus far, they have not lifted a finger to earn that freedom. They inherited it, from men who shed real blood, and not paper paint, in defense of their country. The instructions of higher learning that now tolerate them with such patience were created from a capitalist economy, in which men worked, invested, took chances, profited and lost, and had fun in the process.

There isn't a major company in this land that isn't hungry for young men of real intelligence and creative capacity, blessed with active minds that can contrive genuinely better ways of doing things. But why on earth should such companies want a rabble of washed slobs, troublemakers, malcontents, petulant pessimists, sophomores with a vastly inflated view of their own small talents?

Hi ho, hi ho. Such figures are wasted. Poor old Plutarch was right about his problem, and we have the same ones today. For "the movement" isn't new. Many of us are saying the same positive things word for word, with the same positive intentions. And we are still here, and we are still here, and we are still here.

publicity."

In another court case, reported from Vancouver, B.C., a magistrate levied a $25 fine on two papers for a technical violation of the Canadian law against reporting confessions in a criminal case. He added he hoped a test case would be developed for the higher courts and urged the newspapers to appeal. (It should be added here that the English and Canadian requirements on newspaper coverage of a criminal case differ markedly from the traditional rule in the United States. These countries have no constitutional guarantee similar to the freedom of press, religion and speech contained in the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.)

The Editor of the Toronto (Ontario) Toronto Star, after the usual histrionics about the right to a fair trial, opined concerning the case that the "the safeguard of jury men against possible prejudicial hearings cannot be left to the discretion of the individual newspaper."

A third story by Mr. Hugh R. Dillon ends: "The rules of our society also allow for freedom of the press and fair trials. A more conscientious effort on both sides would sustain these rules."

"Until this utopian goal is reached, if this writer were faced with a choice, it might be better to be at the mercy of the news media—as embarrassing as it might be—than to be at the mercy of officialdom if they were permitted to operate in secrecy."

The uniqueness of this quote derives from Mr. Dillon's position. He is to quote him "the 'victim' of news coverage—several times". He is a prisoner in Southern Michigan Prison.

There is no doubt in our minds that some newsmen unnecessarily "sensationalize" criminal stories. Usually they get their "lead" from the bar, prosecution or defense.

Nevertheless, Mr. Dillon, convict, is the only person mentioned in these three stories that sees the point in the controversy. No matter its faults, freedom of speech and press is guaranteed by the constitution.

The basis of Mr. Dillon's conclusion lies in his belief, which he substantiates to some degree, that newspapers protect more innocent people from prosecutors trying for a good record than they prejudice.

In recent civil suits for libel brought against newspapers by public officials, the U.S. Supreme Court has unanimously supported the newsman's right to criticize public officials even if factually inaccurate so long as no actual malice is involved. Three of the nine justices would go further and permit the unrestrained criticism of public officials even when done maliciously.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The ghost of Joseph Stalin, hanging over the Kremlin like a dank and dismal pall since his denunciation by Khrushchev, may soon return to its tomb, mission accomplished. Reports from the Soviet inner sanctum tell of a violent debate over restoring Stalin's name and fame as a Russian hero, with the pro-Stalinists apparently gaining the upper hand. After his downgrading by Khrushchev, Stalin's name was purged from Russian history books, his statues battered down, his portraits ripped from their place beside those of Lenin. But now that Khrushchev himself has been ousted and denounced, the hardline Communists who disapprove of the policy of coexistence and cooperation with the West are striving to turn the clock all the way back. They argue that U.S. imperialism in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic are proof that Khrushchev was wrong, Stalin was right.

Piotr Demichev, the new ideological boss, is reported to have passed the word to Soviet writers and poets to write favorably of Stalin again. For the first time since he was debunked, Stalin's name is being mentioned kindly in the Soviet press. Last month, Russian newspapers even began referring to "Stalingrad" once more. Khrushchev had changed its name to Volgograd.

The importance of this inside battle is that if Stalin again is glorified in Russia, it will mean die-hard disciples have again won control—and they are strongly anti-American. And as I reported from Moscow in March, their resurgence will be one more sign of the very serious and very dangerous repercussions to President Johnson's foreign policies.

Soviet sea power
Our admirals are uneasy over Russia's growing sea power. They believe our ships are more formidable, our sailors more experienced. But the Red navy has tripled the number of ships—more than 3,000 active vessels compared with less than 900 U.S. naval craft.

The Russians have specialized in submarines and small swift patrol boats. For example, Russia has more than 400 submarines. We have less than 170. But it is the comparative obsolescence of our ships that worries the admirals most. Seventy per cent of the fleet is over-age—namely, over twenty years old. In contrast, most of the Soviet fleet is new. These figures are particularly disturbing in view of our increased reliance on sea power to support our bombing of Viet Nam and our occupation of the Dominican Republic.

Long summer for congress

Congressional leaders have just about given up hope of an early adjournment this year. At first they hoped to wind up the session by the fourth of July. Then they set Aug. 15 as the target for adjournment. But the crises in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic have loaded them down with so much extra work that they now figure they will be lucky to go home in October. However, they may take a short summer vacation.

Furthermore, even the right to a free trial is not so important to society as a whole as is the right to turn the spotlight on full blast at any public activity of society. The first step in formation of any modern dictatorship has been suppression of news media. After that there is no trouble dictating to the judges, the attorneys and the public at large. We take the extreme position that freedom of expression is more important to "freedom" than is freedom of the Justices of the U. S. Supreme Court.

In criminal cases, however, there is a more equal conflict of principles: the right of a fair trial vs. the right of free expression.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
I have a small gripe I would like to make public.

A friend of mine was rushed to Hancock General Hospital today. We sat for 45 minutes before even a nurse asked what was the matter. In these 45 minutes at least three nurses walked by and only one mumbled a word.

What I am getting at is this, what would have happened if a dying person was brought in? Would they sit for 45 minutes with no assistance, no relief from their pain.

Is the apathy with our doctors or is it the Hospital? Sincerely,
A PATIENT'S FRIEND
Bay St. Louis.

STRIPED PANTS BUNGLERS

State Department bumbling almost upset the historic decision to send a Latin American police force into the Dominican Republic to take over from the United States Marines. Latin American delegates were already sore at President Johnson for rushing the Marines into Santo Domingo without consulting a single Pan American ambassador. The State Department then made matters worse by providing the OAS with week-old reports on Dominican developments.

By only one vote the OAS finally agreed to bail us out by sending a Latin American peace-keeping force—provided that the troops wore OAS insignia and took orders from the OAS. This would include OAS arm bands for U.S. Marines. The State Department immediately started to haggle and quibble.

At this point ex-Gov. Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico and ex-President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela begged Johnson to stop the quibbling or the whole plan would go down the drain. He agreed immediately.

Peace Corps volunteers in the Dominican Republic, incidentally, have reported that the poorer classes overwhelmingly favor the liberal cause. They are opposed to communism, but have swallowed some communist propaganda—including the story that rich landlords are depriving them of the water needed for their drought-stricken fields.

Succumbing to spring fever is fine when you're sitting under a tree. When you're sitting behind a steering wheel it can be fatal.

Our views

For a hundred and fifty years there has been a battle of sorts between newspapers and the courts on one side and the bench and bar on the other. One facet of this dispute has for years revolved around the right of an accused to a fair trial and the defense lawyer. Frequently claiming their right, they have mostly still blamed the news for the conviction, had not had a fair trial before the jury.

The assassination of President John Kennedy and the subsequent killing, witnessed over tv by millions, of the apparent assassin, has brought to the fore a dispute to the forefront for eighteen years. Bar Associations and judicial conferences around the nation, while critical of the defense lawyers, have mostly still blamed the news for the conviction. A considerable portion of news media, tv, newspapers, have in some "soul searching" criticized themselves.

Approaches to the problem were represented in the May 9 issue of Editor's Magazine, the newspaperman's magazine.

One vote the Sixth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused a new trial for Dr. Samuel Sheppard convicted of murdering his wife 10 years ago. The district court had found that "inadequate" judge had deprived Dr. Sheppard of a fair trial.

The majority of the appellate court followed the criticism, view that the average citizen can be relied upon for honesty when he is asked to render a verdict. The evidence presented in court. The court, however, according to Editor and Publisher, offered them the temptation to render a verdict.

City Echoes

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Renshaw have left on a trip to the Ozarks.

Mrs. Sam Whitfield gave her son, William, a birthday dinner on May 19. The Whitfields expect their other son, Robert, home from college on the 30th of this month. Robert is a student at Mississippi State University.

With the supervisors

Would preserve depot, lighthouse

Two strikes for preservation were scored by the board of supervisors Monday when it went on record opposing closing of the 100-year old Waveland's Louisville and Nashville Railroad depot and against demolishing the 80-year old lighthouse at Ft. Massachusetts on Ship Island.

Motion for the first objection was by Charles Levinghouse, seconded by Jack Lou, while Dolph Kellar and H.G. Dean teamed up to adopt the second. R.G. Hubbard presided.

Running through a dozen or more items in rapid succession the board recessed until this coming Monday when it will resume negotiations with representatives of NASA's Mississippi Test Facility. The board is seeking a new contract for the county security patrol in the test site area. The previous contract expired March 31.

A formal resolution was adopted at the request of Pearl River Junior College providing for millage to raise $65,000 for that institution's building program.

On Dean's motion the board approved replacing in the seawall fund $8,000 which had been transferred to the MTF security patrol fund to get it in operation. Dean was authorized to advertise for a large dump truck

Conway child hit by auto

Sharon Lee Conway, 3, was thought to have suffered critical injuries when struck by an automobile on Beach Blvd. just north of Coleman Ave. in Waveland about 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Waveland Marshal Fred Bourgeois reports that the child, apparently returning home from swimming with her grandmother, Mrs. Gladys Sue Stasak, dashed from behind the seawall into the path of a car being driven by Max J. Bishop of Metairie, La. Bishop and Mrs. Stasak rushed the child to Hancock General Hospital where she was given emergency treatment and transferred to Gulfport Memorial. At press time no further report on her condition was available.

Kennedy at helm B-WYC captures Sears Cup event

Basil Kennedy, with crew Tut Keeney and Charles McGee won the Sears Cup under 18 elimination trophy regatta for Bay-Wave Yacht Club on Sunday, after a full weekend of racing on home waters.

One quarter point spelled the difference between victory and second place honors as final rallies gave Bay-Wave-land 27 3/4 points and Pass

Mrs. McFarland competes for Adams trophy

Sailing towards national championships Mrs. Wesley McFarland, and her crew of Mrs. Paul Passnacht and Judy Reeves, quartered over the line to win first place in the Adams Cup elimination regatta at Pass Christian last weekend.

With quarter-finals scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at Pass Christian Yacht Club, the McFarland crew are aiming for the semi-finals at Miami, Fla., and the finals at Fairhope, Ala.

Originally the Hodder Cup, the name was changed in 1925 when Charles Francis Adams presented Yacht Union trustees with a trophy to be emblematic of women's sailing champions. Although previously limited in area, an alteration of award terms now permits crews to compete for the trophy on a national basis.

Christian 27 1/2.

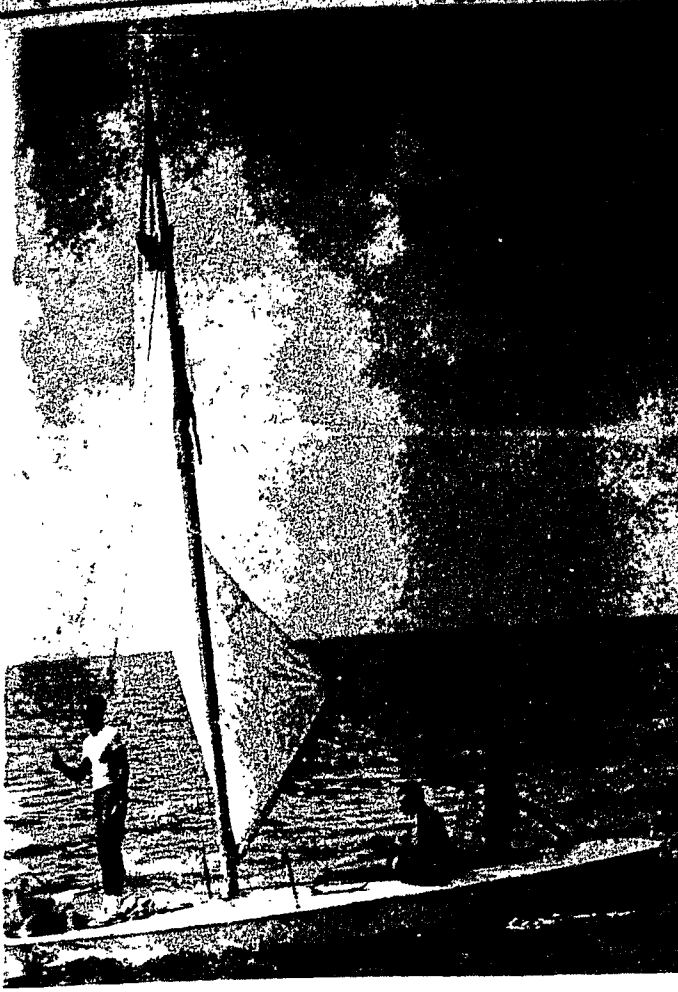

Third place was captured by Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans with 17 points, fourth came Jackson YC with 13, fifth, New Orleans YC and Gulfport YC trailed.

Sailing in fish class yachts through stiff breezes, crews battled over Saturday and Sunday to qualify for the Sears quarter-finals scheduled for this weekend at Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans.

Placings over the five race event, in which six yachts participated, were: Bay-Wave-land, 3 wins, 1 second and one third; Pass Christian, 2 wins 3 seconds. In races in which BWYC placed first PCYC placed second.

Semi-finals for area F will be at the New Orleans YC Aug. 6-8, and finals at the American Yacht Club in Rye, New York, Aug. 30-Sept. 3.

The Sears Cup was originally presented to the Massachusetts Yacht Club, in 1921, by Commodore Herbert M. Sears of the Eastern Yacht Club, to recognize the sailing skills of the sport's younger participants. Gradually the area of encompassment spread until in 1931 the cup was decided to the North American Yacht Racing Union Trustees who made the event national in scope. In 1951 the race became international when coverage was extended to include Canada and the coveted trophy became emblematic of young yachtsmen's triumphs throughout North America.

STREAM SEEDING — County game warden Pat Toomey operates spigot to release 60,000 large mouthed bass into Jordan River. Cecil Ladner of State Game and Fish Commission, also on truck, assists in seeding operation. Onlookers were fishermen from Pearl River Junior College.

Stock local streams with bass

Next spring should prove a bonanza for local anglers when the 60,000 large mouthed bass, seeded into Jordan River, Bayou LaCrosse, Mulatto Bayou and White's Bayou on Friday, will be ready for catching.

Forming part of the State Game and Fish Commission's program to re-stock local streams, the fish, all approximately two inches long, were transported here in trucks from the U.S. Wildlife Fish Hatchery in Lyman by Jack Frost, manager of the establishment. County game warden Pat Toomey and Cecil Ladner of the commission performed local seeding chores.

The fish were conveyed inside stainless steel tanks equipped with electric agitators and an emergency oxygen supply. By spring the green

LINDA LUCILLE LOVE
Linda Love to marry Mr. Necaise

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Love of Starkville announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lucille, to Melvin Douglas Necaise, son of Mrs. Florin Necaise of Kiln and the late Mr. Necaise.

The wedding is planned for 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 12, at the Osborn Presbyterian Church in Starkville.

Mr. Necaise is a graduate of Hancock North Central High School and Pearl River Junior College and is now a senior at the William Carey College in Hattiesburg majoring in Physical Education. For two years he was a member of the Physical Education Club, the basketball team and the C Club.

Miss Love is a graduate of Starkville High School and Mississippi State University. While at MSU she was a member of the Student Education Association and secretary of the Mistersingers Choral Group. She is employed as a teacher in the Pass Christian public schools.

Frank Ladies profit from male nuptials

The womanless wedding raised about $ 750, with some returns still to come in, Mrs. A.M. Orte, president, told the Hancock General Hospital Auxiliary meeting at the home of Mrs. Leo Seal last Thursday.

Hospital week, including the open house on Friday, was discussed and members were urged to help in the drive to encourage the public to visit the institution and see both the modern facilities and remodeling work achieved.

Members were also invited to participate in the sewing program as currently there is far more work than workers. Rev. Charles R. Johnson of Christ Episcopal Church, delivered the inspirational message.

Garners win bridge honors

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garner won first place at the Bay-Waveland Duplicate Bridge Club meet Friday in the Garden Center.

Second place standings went to Mrs. Kenyon Harrington and Mrs. Richard E. Reeves while Mr. and Mrs. Stephen O. Hastings won third scoring spot. Interested persons are invited to call Mrs. Harrington at HO7-7294 for further details.

LAKE SHORE LOG

BY NINA S. GREEN

The Bayou Caddy cemetery is a lovely place, or it was, until vandals shot up a number of headstones and someone carelessly left the gate open a number of times letting in the goats who ruined most of the lovely shrubbery.

This cemetery was a gift of Raymond LaFontaine over 100 years ago. At first it was just a resting place for members of his family and their families. Later others living in Ansley were laid to rest therein. Thru the years cedar trees were planted and the grounds were always kept in good condition. Visitors are always welcome as the gates are never locked but please try to be a little more careful when you leave and please close the gates.

Mrs. Juanita Shiyon of Columbus Georgia, and her two sons Michael, and Hugh are spending two weeks with Mrs. Shiyon's parents Mr. and Mrs. Rufus LaFontaine of Ansley.

Talent night at Gulfview school was a big success and quite entertaining. Four adult acts and 17 students took part in the talent show.

Winners in the adult division were: first, Sidney McSeal former Gulfview faculty member who is presently teaching in Thomas, La., McSeal played guitar and sang; second, Vic Green's band, composed of Melvin Lusich, Val Fuch and Orres Ladner; third, Robert Perkins, who did a comedy act.

All adults donated their cash prizes back to the school.

MTF official concerned over state's image

Jean M. Luck, public affairs manager for General Electric at Mississippi Test Facility, speaking at a Mississippi Economic Council meeting on Thursday at Jackson, said his firm is vitally concerned with the state's reputation. "Professionals in the space field are easy to recruit for service in the state once they visit here and see for themselves how things are," he said.

The need for the best professional help in the public relations field to aid Mississippi in improving her image across the nation received major attention from those present.

Interviewed after the meeting, Luck told the Echo that his biggest problem lay in getting people to come and see for themselves. Once they look the situation over they are quite pleased, he said.

The image of Mississippi outside of the state is such that many do not want to take the trouble to come down thinking they will immediately become involved with the state's problems, said Luck.

MISS. JOY MONTI, RN

Miss Monti is nurse of year at Ochsner's

Miss Joy Monti, R.N., daughter of Mrs. Pedro Monti and the late Mr. Monti of Bay St. Louis, was named nurse of the year at Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans at its awards dinner May 12.

Miss Monti, head nurse on the fourth floor at the hospital, is the ninth recipient of the award.

She was graduated from St. Joseph Academy in 1947 and attended Southeastern Louisiana College at Hammond. She received her RN degree from Hotel Dieu nursing school in 1952 and was on the staff there for three years. She has been at Ochsner's for eight years.

Attending the dinner from here were Mrs. Monti and Ochsner's Blaise, uncle of Miss Monti.

Library friends organize

Mrs. O.H. Pilkey was elected president of the Friends of the Library at its organizational meeting May 12 at the home of Mrs. E. C. Samuel, president of the City-County Memorial Library board.

Mrs. William Lamb was chosen secretary-treasurer. To formulate a functioning organization a rules committee was appointed composed of Mrs. George Curet, Mrs. Calvin Phelps and Mrs. Terrance Feehey.

Membership is open to the public with annual dues of $2. Membership cards may be obtained from the officers or library board members.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon with Mrs. William Pitcairn and Mrs. Robert Hamilton pouring.

Among the many attending were Meses. Walter Rausch, Rene de Montluzin, Jr., Sam Whitfield, C.C. McDonald, Joseph Benvenuti, Fred Hoagland, John McDonald, Gilbert Gayart, Charles Von Trier, J. W. Clark, A. L. Gianelloni, W. P. Cucomb, R. A. Steinmayer, J.E. Viguier, Katherine Wilson and Miss Louise Crawford.

him home. Upon discovering that he was living and doing well, she proceeded to have herself a ball. Senator and Mrs. Metcalfe escorted her all over the place, including taking her on a side trip to Juarez. On the way home they stopped in Natchez where Mrs. Phillips Abbott entertained her at luncheon at Stanton Hall and accompanied her on a tour of two show places, Rosalie and Melrose. Harry is now feeling fine and leaves for Chicago on Saturday.

St. Ann's Catholic Church in Clermont Harbor will have its annual fair on Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13.

Debbie Poolson, Lorraine and Charlie's oldest daughter, celebrated her 12th birthday on Sunday, May 16.

Stage triumph

Twelve Angry Men, Little Theatre's most recent production was a smash hit according to all who attend and that takes in just everybody in town.

If anyone was as worried as your reporter when what appeared to be millions of tiny tots turned up all over the Bay last Tuesday, we'll pass on the news that we haven't really had a sudden population explosion. The group consisting of 25 adults, mamas and teachers, accompanied by 90-third graders from St. Claude Heights School were on a yearly outing. They arrived on the early morning train, spent the day in our midst and wearily returned home that afternoon.

Jack Seuzeneau has asked that we express his appreciation to Mr. O'Bannon, of O'Bannon's

BAPTISTS HOLD CAMP

Thirty-eight young people from First Baptist Church attended an overnight trip to Camp Kittiwake last weekend as a reward for attendance at Sunday school and church during the special April program. Accompanying them were Rev. and Mrs. Emory Green, Mr. and Mrs. James Higdon, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hand, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Hand, III.

truck stop, for his generosity in loaning refrigeration equipment for cooling drinks and food for their recent softball tournament.

Fishing news

Mrs. Leon Doerflein came up with what we believe to be the largest fish caught over the weekend. She landed a 41 1/2 pound drum while fishing from a skiff early Saturday, around 5:30 a.m. to be specific—in the Bay near the draw bridge.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Several small boys ignoring bicycles, transistor radios and other "boughten" toys, having a ball sliding down the steep incline to the beach on nothing but large cardboard boxes; bright white sunfish sails sweeping perilously over the turbulent water, but running like mad in Saturday's gusty gales, and the sound of the waves slamming against the sea wall like hundreds of fast thrown baseballs hitting a like number of catcher's gloves!

MASQUERADE WINNER - Miss Rachael Norgress of Boardman Avenue won humorous prize at masquerade ball during recent Caribbean cruise aboard Stella Polaris. Her subject was The Great Society.

City Echoes

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien William Kidd honored their daughter, Geraldine, with a graduation party on Sunday after Bay High School vespers. Many of her classmates and their parents enjoyed the gathering.

Attending the Mississippi Assn. of Legal Secretaries convention at the Buena Vista Hotel May 7 and 8 were Meses, Leo Moran, A.E. White and T.M. Mallini and Miss Ursula Favre. Joining them for the reception on the opening night were Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Ford, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Phillips and William Goldman. Guests for the banquet Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Russell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Teddy Stechmann and Messrs. Moran and White. Mrs. Gerald Waldrop, secretary to Knox White in Gulfport, was elected president for the coming year.

Miss Linda Hamilton, member of this year's graduating class at Bay High School, was feted by her mother, Mrs. Robert L. Hamilton, with a tea Wednesday afternoon at their home on Leopold Street. Guests were classmates of the honoree, Mrs. Hamilton and her daughter received. Assisting in serving were Meses, J.W. Clark and James Fillingame.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pollington and daughter from Beaumont, Texas, called on his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pollington, and sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Al Cospelich, while visiting Bay St. Louis recently.

Tech. Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Sager and their four children, who have been stationed with the Air Force at Tacoma, Wash., for the last four years, are being transferred late this month to Keesler Field. Mrs. Sager is the former Miss Myra Seal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Seal of Lakeshore.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith of Waveland were their granddaughter, Miss Jane Peritt, and her friends, Misses Lynette Tramontana and Cindy Gresham.

Miss Rachael Norgress attended the program-tee of the Robert Ruffin chapter, Colonial Dames of the 17th Century, Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph V. Schlosser.

NEW SURVEY SETTLES THE QUESTION:

"When you have an accident, who is more likely to help you—an independent agent or a one-company salesman?"

ANSWER:

An independent agent, by a big margin.

The National Association of Insurance Agents asked an impartial, nationally recognized research organization to accurately measure the difference. Here is what their research showed:

9 out of 10 independent agents help with claims.
A far lower percentage of other agents do.

This research proved that The Big Difference in insurance is the continuing, personal attention of an independent agent.

To insure your car, home, or business through an independent agent, look for this seal. Only an independent agent—a man pledged to help you when you have a loss—can display it.
